Historical Sketch of the University.

—o—

ORIGIN.

As has been the case in the history of many Colleges, this Institution was first established as a private enterprise by the efforts of some friends of the cause of education, who, seeing the lack of facilities for broad mental culture sought to supply the need in their own community by the erection of an Institution where such culture might be obtained.

HISTORY.

During the winter of 1854 and 1855, S. H. Robertson and Robert Alexander, of Fayette, to whose liberality the University owes its existence, took measures for the erection of a Seminary in the town of Fayette. In the course of the following summer the first story was erected, and in the fall the Seminary was offered to the Upper Iowa Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which offer was accepted and a board of trustees appointed in accordance with the request of the corporation hitherto having control.

The first term of school began January 1st, 1857, at which time Rev. William Poor, A. M., of New York, entered upon the discharge of his duties as Principal of the Seminary. In 1858 the name was changed to "Upper Iowa University," and Rev. Lucius H. Bugbee, D. D., now President of Alleghany College, was elected and in the following year inaugurated President.

In 1860 application was made to the Legislature for a charter which was granted, and Rev. William Brush, D. D., was call to the Prssidency.

The following persons have been elected President:

Rev. C. N. Stowers, M. A., in 1869; Rev. R. Norton, M. A., in 1872, and Rev. J. W. Bissell, M. A., in 1874.

The Preparatory School.

—o—

The Preparatory School, designed primarily to fit students for college, is at the same time a well regulated Academic Institution, offering all the advantages of a first-class Academy or Seminary to those who wish a more thorough culture than can be obtained in our district schools. There are two courses of study, the Normal and Preparatory.

THE NORMAL COURSE.

The design of this course is to best meet the wants of a very numerous class of our students who wish to obtain a thorough knowledge of all the English branches and prepare themselves for the special work of teaching. The studies pursued in this course will embrace all those branches required to be taught in our common schools, viz.: Orthography, Reading, Penmanship, Geography, Arithmetic, Grammar, U. S. History and Physiology. The instruction in this course is intended to be both thorough and practical; to supply the demand of all those who want a practical education. With special reference to these ends, a prescribed course of study will be adopted which shall correspond in its aims and methods with the courses pursued in the normal schools of this and other States. Frequent oral exercises and written examinations will be conducted. To give increased facilities in this direction a recitation room will be fitted up and furnished during vacation, with improved blackboards and new desk chairs. All students who shall satisfactorily complete the prescribed course of study in this department, and pass the required examination, will receive from the Faculty a certificate of advanced standing or scholarship. This will furnish aid and recommendation to students applying for positions to teach.

THE PREPARATORY COURSE.

This course extends through two years and includes the Classical and Scientific Courses, leading to the corresponding courses in the Collegiate Department. In the Classical course, Latin is required five times a week the first year, and Greek and Latin during the second year. Latin and Greek Prose Composition is required once a week during the second year. In the Scientific course, Latin is required only during the second year. A knowledge of the common English branches is required for either of these courses. Candidates are urged to apply themselves carefully to the requisite studies: Orthography, Reading, Elementary Grammar, Arithmetic and Geography.

Commercial Department.

—o—

H. E. HURD, M. Acct., Principal.

—o—

A PRACTICAL COURSE OF BUSINESS TRAINING OPEN TO BOTH GENTLEMEN AND LADIES. EXPENSES ONLY HALF THAT OF ANY OTHER COLLEGE CONDUCTED UPON ACTUAL BUSINESS PRINCIPLES.

Remarks.—The demand for a practical system of business training, such as would qualify both ladies and gentlemen to fill positions of responsibility and usefulness in the business world, has long agitated the minds of practical educators; and the Business College, in meeting that demand, is recognized on all hands as an indispensable adjunct to the educational system.

It is not merely a school of preparation for the counting room, but a system of business training qualifying the student for the actual duties of every day life. The student is introduced into a miniature business world, where all the operations are carried on under his eyes, thus condensing the experience of years into a few months. It is as unreasonable to expect a business man to pursue successfully the calling he has chosen without a business education, as for a man intending himself for any of the learned professions to enter upon his duties without properly qualifying himself at the outset.

COURSE OF STUDY.

General Information.

—o—

LOCATION.

Fayette, the seat of the University, is a town of about twelve hundred inhabitants, situated in Fayette county, Iowa, and is accessible from all parts of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota by means of the Davenport & St. Paul and the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern Railways.

THE BUILDING.

The University building,—erected in 1857, by the munificence of Robert Alexander and S. H. Robertson,—is constructed of limestone, obtained from the quarries in the immediate vicinity of Fayette. It is a substantial structure, one hundred feet long by fifty wide, three stories high. On the first floor, with the main entrances on the east and west, and another on the south, are the Chapel, Laboratory and a suit of rooms for one of the professors. On the second floor are Recitation Rooms, Commercial Rooms, Music Rooms, Library, Parlor and Museum. The third story is occupied principally with the Society Halls and the Studio.

APPARATUS.

The instruction given in Physics embraces, in both Classical and Scientific Courses, three terms. The University is provided with a complete set of instruments made by Ritchie, of Boston, by which the principles of the Science are illustrated. Instruction in Chemistry is given by lectures and experiments in the Laboratory. The University is provided with one of Tolle's Microscopes and a set of Microscopical Apparatus for use of the students in the Natural and Physical Sciences.

Charts—Botanical and Anatomical—Globes, Maps, Orrery, Tellurion, &c., are used in the several Departments of the school.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Societies, of which there are three—the Zethegathean and Philomathean (composed of gentlemen) and the Aonia (composed of ladies)—have each their respective Halls and Libraries.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations are conducted in all the departments at the close of each term, and at the close of the year a public examination is held before a committee appointed by the Conference. All students are required to attend these examinations, and no student will be passed in a study who does not receive seventy on a scale of a hundred.

MISCELLANEOUS.

REPAIRS.—The Board of Trustees, at the annual meeting in June, 1877, made an appropriation for repairs. During the summer vacation this will be expended in reflooring the Halls on Recitation Rooms, reslating the Black Boards, painting, purchasing chairs, etc.

MINISTERS.—The children of Ministers in the regular work are entered at one-half the usual rates of tuition.

BOARDING.—Board in private families ranges from $2.75 to $3.00 per week, the student furnishing his own fuel and light. Good table board can be had at from $2.00 to $2.25. Students can board in clubs at from $2.00 to $2.50 per week. Many students rent rooms and board themselves at one-half the usual rates.

The Ladies' Professorship Association.

This Association was incorporated under the laws of Iowa in 1874 with full power to hold and convey property of every kind, to invest or loan money, and to enforce collection of moneys loaned. The Treasurer is required to give bonds to the amount of five thousand dollars for the faithful performance of her duty as custodian of the funds, thereby securing the Association against the possibility of loss. All funds are invested under direction of the Board of Managers, ample security being required in every case, and only the interest used for the purposes of the Association while the principal is to remain untouched forever. Care is taken to guard every point, in order that the greatest possible security and permanence may be attained, and the object in view most speedily accomplished. The object of this Association is to raise and invest funds for the endowment of a Chair in the University to be filled by a lady chosen by the joint action of the Trustees and the members of this Association.

The Preparatory Department.

The Preparatory Department, designed primarily to fit students for college, offers all the advantages of a first-class Academy or Seminary. The two courses of study, leading to those in the Collegiate Department are arranged with special reference to furnishing students with a thorough knowledge of the rudiments of the Latin and Greek Languages. Candidates for admission to either of these courses must be prepared to pass an examination in the elements of the common English branches, such as Orthography, Reading, Geography, Primary Grammar, and Intermediate Arithmetic.

The Normal Department.

This Department is designed to meet the wants of a very numerous class of students who wish to obtain a thorough knowledge of all the English branches and prepare themselves for the special work of teaching. The studies pursued embrace all those branches required to be taught in our common schools, viz: Orthography, Reading, Penmanship, Geography, Arithmetic, Grammar, U. S. History and Physiology. The instruction is intended to be both thorough and practical; to supply the demand of all those who want a practical education. With special reference to these ends, and to give increased facilities in this direction, a recitation room has been fitted up and furnished with improved black boards and new desk chairs.

All students who satisfactorily complete the prescribed course of study in this department, and pass the required examination, receive from the Faculty, if desired, a certificate of advanced standing or scholarship, which will assist them in securing positions in the public schools.

Business College.

The Business College is provided with a suite of rooms on the second floor, and the courses of study include all that is taught in the leading Commercial Schools of this country at one-half the expense.

It is not merely a school of preparation for the counting room, but a system of business training qualifying the student for the actual duties of every day life. The student is introduced into a miniature business world, where all the operations are carried on under his eyes, thus condensing the experience of years into a few months. It is as unreasonable to expect a business man to pursue successfully the calling he has chosen without a business education, as for a man intending himself for any of the learned professions to enter upon his duties without properly qualifying himself at the outset. Commercial students have all the privileges of other students, and can, if they choose, at the same time pursue studies in the Collegiate, Preparatory or Normal departments.

COURSE OF STUDY.

PREPARATORY.

First Division.—Language of Trade, Business Papers, Commercial Definitions, Elements of Penmanship.

Second Division.—Business Correspondence, Forms of Day Book, Cash Book, Journal and Ledger, Penmanship.

SECOND DIVISION.—Merchants' Emporium, representing business as conducted in a first-class wholesale establishment.

THIRD DIVISION.—Banks of Deposit, Discount and Circulation, having regular subscriptions for shares, and conducted in accordance with the State and National Laws on Banking.

The course can be completed in from three to six months, according to the ability and application of the students. The degree of Master of Accounts is conferred upon graduates.

A Partial Course—called Clerk's Course—is organized for those who do not wish to pursue the full Course.

Conservatory of Music.

The Conservatory of Music was organized in 1877 to meet the growing demand for instruction of a high grade, and its success has demonstrated the wisdom of those who projected it. Music is no longer considered a mere accomplishment, but an indispensable part of an education. Its refining and elevating influence cannot be measured. In all ages it has been cultivated. But at no previous period, ancient or modern, has such an interest been taken in this important branch as during the last decade or two. To meet this great awakening inferior performers and superficial teachers have sprung up in every town, but they have failed to satisfy the public demand. The time has come when the people require and will patronize Conservatories of Music that afford ample facilities for a thorough musical education, both practical and theoretical.

FIRST YEAR.

First Term.—Rudiments of Music, Finger Training, Technics of First and Second Grades.

Second Term.—Finger Training, Reading at Sight, Technics of Fourth Grade.

Third Term.—Finger Training, Reading at Sight, Music of the Fourth Grade.

Second Term.—Cramer's Etudes and Harmony continued.

Third Term.—Cramer's Etudes continued, Music of the Sixth Grade.

FOURTH YEAR.

Musical Notation and Composition. Technics and Music of 7th Grade.

A Diploma will be awarded to pupils who take a full course of three years.

Art Department.

The Studio is pleasantly located, and is open every school-day from 2 to 4 P. M. Instruction is given in Penciling, embracing Outline and Shaded Drawing, and Perspective. Crayon sketching of the simplest natural objects or the most complex, will receive attention. In Oil Colors, pupils may exercise their skill in both Landscape and Portrait Painting.

It is the design of the school to impart a thorough knowledge of the Fine Arts, and not simply to afford a pleasing pastime to indifferent copyists.

General Information.

LOCATION.

The Upper Iowa University is located at Fayette, Fayette County, Iowa, seventy-five miles Northwest of Dubuque, one hundred and twenty-five north of Davenport, and one hundred and fifty miles south of St. Paul. It is reached by three lines of railway—the Davenport and St. Paul, the Dubuque and Pacific, and the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern. Fayette is free from all those demoralizing influences found in the large cities, and many of the smaller towns. There are no saloons or billiard halls.

The University occupies the center of the campus of ten acres, and overlooks as picturesque scenery as can be found in the Mississippi Valley. To the east and south stretches a gradually sloping plain terminated by circuitous bluffs, not sufficiently elevated, however, to obstruct the extended view beyond. To the north and west, not many rods distance, runs the Volga River, so celebrated for its bold and ever-changing scenery. A great German savant made a very accurate remark when he said: "Nothing which comes through your eyes into your head ever goes out." The impressions obtained from the sense of sight are of the most lasting character, hence the benefit accruing to young people in spending their scholastic life in the midst of surroundings where the eye is constantly greeted with pleasing and attractive objects.

THE BUILDING.

The University building—erected in 1857, by the munificence of Robert Alexander and S. H. Robertson—is constructed of limestone, obtained from the quarries in the immediate vicinity of Fayette. It is a substantial structure, one hundred feet long by fifty wide, three stories high. On the first floor, with the main entrances on the east and west, and another on the south, are the Chapel, Laboratory and a suite of rooms for one of the professors. On the second floor are Recitation Rooms, Commercial Rooms, Music Rooms, Library, Parlor, and Museum. The third story is occupied principally with the Society Halls and the Studio.

APPARATUS.

The instruction given in Physics embraces, in both Classical and Scientific Courses, three terms. The University is provided with a complete set of instruments made by Ritchie, of Boston, by which the principles of the Science are illustrated. Instruction in Chemistry is given by lectures and experiments in the Laboratory. The University is provided with one of Tolle's Microscopes and a set of Microscopical Apparatus for use of students in the Natural and Physical Sciences.

Charts—Botanical and Anatomical—Globes, Maps, Orrery, Tellurion, &c., are used in the several Departments of the school.

MUSEUM.

The Museum of the University is arranged on the second floor, and contains collections in Geology, Zoology, Mineralogy, and Conchology. The specimens are labeled and arranged for the use of students in these sciences. The University itself is on the Niagara limestone, which is everywhere exposed in bold and picturesque ledges along the Volga River, and which occupies over one-half of Fayette county. Within half a mile of the University this formation affords abundant specimens of corals—Halysites, Heliolites, Favosites and Stromatopora, and is also rich in species of Brachiopods—Orthis, Atrypa, Strophomena, Spirifera, Pentammeri. In Fayette county alone six geological formations are exposed. The students of the University, therefore, have an opportunity of examining from time to time the rock strata, and to collect specimens.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three Literary Societies connected with the University: the Zethegathean, the Philomathean, and the Aonian, affording superior facilities for practice in Public Speaking, Debate, Criticism and Parliamentary Usage. Each of these societies has its own Hall and Library, and during the term meets regularly once a week.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations are conducted in all the departments at the close of each term, and at the close of the year a public examination is held before a committee appointed by the Conference. All students are required to attend these examinations, and no student will be passed in a study who does not receive seventy in a scale of a hundred.

GOVERNMENT AND DISCIPLINE.

Candidates for admission to the various departments of the University are received only on condition and agreement that they will comply with all the published rules and regulations. These are: to attend church service on the Sabbath unless excused by the President; to attend chapel service each morning on school days, and to attend all recitations. Absence either from church, chapel or recitation, must in every case be accounted for in writing. The Chapel Roll is called at every chapel service, and the Church Roll on Tuesday morning. Students are not allowed to leave town or be absent from their rooms during study hours, without permission from the President or some one of the Professors, nor board or room at a house not approved by the Faculty. Students are promptly dismissed whenever it is evident, in the judgment of the Faculty, that they are pursuing a course of conduct seriously detrimental to themselves or to the Institution.

DEGREES CONFERRED.

The University confers the following Degrees in course:

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts on those students who complete the classical course of study.

The Degree of Bachelor of Science on those students who complete the scientific course of study.

The Degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science, respectively, on Bachelors of Arts and Bachelors of Science of three years' standing, provided that since graduation they have sustained a good moral character and pursued some literary or scientific calling.

Candidates for these Degrees should apply to the President of the University two weeks before Commencement. The applications must be accompanied by a fee of five dollars to pay for diplomas.

Students who complete the full course of the Commercial Department are awarded a diploma as Master of Accounts.

BOARD.

Board is the chief item of expense in attending college. But parents should not forget that it costs something to live at home as well as abroad. The price of table board at the club during the past year has not exceeded $1.50 per week. Rooms furnished throughout, and within a convenient distance, can be rented for fifty cents per week, while unfurnished rooms, for self-boarding, or for those who prefer to bring their own furniture, can be had for about half the above price. Board in private families is from $2.50 to to $2.75 per week. Students will find it to their advantage to consult with members of the Faculty before engaging rooms or board. Any information cheerfully given. Parents or student, by writing to the President or Professor Hurd, can have eligible rooms secured or good boarding places engaged.

DEPARTMENTS OF THE COLLEGE.

To carry out the aim of the institution so as to meet the various educational wants of the patronizing territory, and the purposes of different students, the work is distributed to the College proper, a Preparatory Academic School, a Normal Course (running parallel with many of the studies in the Preparatory Department and in the College), a Business College, a Conservatory of Music, and an Art School.

For the work of the College, three courses of study are marked out — the Classical, the Latin-Scientific, and the Scientific.

THE CLASSICAL COURSE

Is, in all respects, substantially the same as in the best American Colleges. It embraces those branches of study which long experience has shown to be the best adapted to secure a symmetrical mental development and liberal attainments in education. The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on all who complete this course.

THE LATIN-SCIENTIFIC COURSE

Is equivalent to the Classical in the requisites for admission, the time required to complete it, and, it is believed, in its value for mental discipline. It differs in the substitution of modern languages for Greek, and in a more extended study in natural science and philosophy. The degree of Bachelor of Philosophy is conferred on those who complete this course.

THE SCIENTIFIC COURSE

Is adapted to the wants of those who prefer practical studies. Thought, faithfully applied to any subject, develops mental power. This course in science, mathematics, English literature, modern languages, and philosophy, secures to the student thorough drill, while furnishing practical knowledge and direct preparation for active life. The same time is required as in the other courses. The degree of Bachelor of Science is given on its completion.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

This is intended to provide for the preparation of students for the College courses of study. All students entering school are urged to undertake some one of the courses, since experience has proved that those who fail to do this frequently have occasion to regret their indecision. To those, however, who are unable to follow any regular course, this department offers all the advantages of a first-class Academy or Seminary. Candidates for admission must be prepared to pass an examination in the elements of the common English branches.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

Students desiring to enter one of the College courses will be examined in the Preparatory studies of the same course, and must present satisfactory evidence of good moral character.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must be examined in the studies that have been pursued by the class which they wish to enter, or in others equivalent to them.

Those coming from another College, and bringing certificates of dismission, may be admitted to corresponding standing in this College.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

As many students desire to obtain a thorough knowledge of the English branches, with a special view to teaching, this department has been organized with direct reference to this class. It furnishes ample facilities for thorough scholarship in the elementary branches, and also in higher mathematics, English literature, and philosophy.

Besides this, should a sufficient number desire it, a Normal class will be formed each term, which will furnish opportunity for text-book recitations on theory and practice of teaching, school management, etc., and also afford opportunities for practical work and criticism. All students who satisfactorily complete the prescribed course of study in this department, and pass the required examination, receive from the Faculty, if desired, a certificate of advanced standing or scholarship.

BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The ordinary Business College is the outgrowth of the felt wants of modern competitive business life. It is usually defective, as it fails to supply the general knowledge on which a technical training, in order to be successful, must be based. The presence of a school of this kind within the walls of an institution of learning, is surely a great advantage to the commercial student who is deficient in his knowledge of the elementary branches. It ought not to be overlooked by those desiring a business education, that students have the opportunity of attending classes in any department of the school, and of thus acquiring that knowledge of spelling, punctuation, phraseology, and structure of sentences, so frequently overlooked in Business Colleges, but so very important in actual life.

Besides this, it is confidently believed that the course includes all that is taught in the leading American Commercial Colleges, and at one-half the cost.

Penmanship is taught without extra charge, not only to the students of the Commercial Department, but to all others who choose to avail themselves of it.

COURSE OF STUDY.

PREPARATORY.

First Division.—Language of Trade, Business Papers, Commercial Definitions, Elements of Penmanship.

Second Division.—Business Correspondence, Forms of Day Book, Cash Book, Journal, and Ledger, Penmanship.

SECOND DIVISION.—Merchants' Emporium, representing business as conducted in a first-class wholesale establishment.

THIRD DIVISION.—Banks of Deposit, Discount, and Circulation, having regular subscriptions for shares, and conducted in accordance with the State and National Laws on Banking.

The course can be completed in from three to six months, according to the ability and application of the students. The degree of Master of Accounts is conferred upon graduates.

A partial course—called Clerk's Course—is organized for those who do not wish to pursue the full course.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

The Conservatory of Music was organized in 1877, to meet the growing demand for instruction of a high grade, and its success has demonstrated the wisdom of those who projected it. Music is no longer considered a mere accomplishment, but an indispensable part of an education. Its refining and elevating influence cannot be measured. In all ages it has been cultivated. But at no previous period, ancient or modern, has such an interest been taken in this important branch as during the last decade or two. To meet this great awakening, inferior performers and superficial teachers have sprung up in every town, but they have failed to satisfy the public demand. The time has come when the people require and will patronize Conservatories of Music that afford ample facilities for a thorough musical education, both practical and theoretical.

THE PIANO DEPARTMENT.

In addition to the usual instruction books, the following works are also used: Schmidt's and Czerney's Five-Finger Exercises, Kullak's Octave Studies, and Etudes by Heller, Cramer, Koehler, and others, as well as pieces by modern and classic composers, including Chopin, Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Mozart, Gottschalk, etc.

ORGAN.

A systematic course is pursued in this department. Methods by Kimball, Root, Clark, etc., are used. Ludden's Thorough-Bass, Kimball's Voluntaries, etc., are also made the basis of instruction.

VOCAL.

Howard's Method of Voice Culture is used; Root's School of Singing, Concone's Exercises, etc. A singing class meets two nights each week, in which the rudiments of music, and singing at sight, are taught.

HARMONY AND COMPOSITION.

Richter's Manual of Harmony and Guide to Composition, by Heinrich Wohlfahrt, are used.

THEORY CLASS.

All theory of music, knowledge of scales, intervals, chords—their positions and inversions, movements, powers, etc.—will be taught in a class which meets for one hour each week.

REHEARSALS.

There are also rehearsals at regular intervals during the term, at which piano and organ solos, duets, and trios, interspersed with vocal music and cornet, will be given by pupils. Also, fifteen minutes of each evening will be given to study of music and musicians.

PAINTING AND DRAWING.

The increased power which a knowledge of drawing gives to the teacher in the primary and grammar schools, the general feeling that this important branch of education has been neglected, and a desire to meet the wants of those who seek to prosecute their studies in fine art, prove the necessity of this department in an institution of higher learning.

Instruction is given in penciling, embracing outline drawing and perspective, in crayon sketching, and in oil colors.

It is the design not only to afford a knowledge of art, as such, but to give such instruction as shall be of value in practical life.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

LOCATION.

The Upper Iowa University is located at Fayette, Fayette county, Iowa, seventy-five miles northwest of Dubuque, one hundred and twenty-five miles north of Davenport, and one hundred and fifty miles south of St. Paul. It is reached by three lines of railway—the Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Dubuque & Pacific, and the Burlington, Cedar Rapids, & Northern. Fayette is free from all those demoralizing influences found in the large cities and many of the smaller towns. There are no saloons or billiard halls.

The University occupies the center of the campus of ten acres, and overlooks as picturesque scenery as can be found in the Mississippi Valley. To the east and south stretches a gradually sloping plain, terminated by circuitous bluffs—not sufficiently elevated, however, to obstruct the extended view beyond. To the north and west, not many rods distant, runs the Volga River, so celebrated for its bold and ever-changing scenery. A great German savant made a very accurate remark when he said: "Nothing which comes through your eyes into your head ever goes out." The impressions obtained from the sense of sight are of the most lasting character; hence the benefit accruing to young people in spending their scholastic life in the midst of surroundings where the eye is constantly greeted with pleasing and attractive objects.

THE BUILDING.

The University building—erected in 1857 by the munificence of Robert Alexander and S. H. Robertson—is constructed of limestone, obtained from the quarries in the immediate vicinity of Fayette. It is a substantial structure, one hundred feet long by fifty wide, three stories high. On the first floor, with the main entrances on the east and west, and another on the south, are the chapel, music and recitation rooms. On the second floor are recitation rooms, commercial rooms, music rooms, library, parlor, and museum. On the third floor are the society halls and the studio.

APPARATUS.

The instruction given in physics embraces, in all courses, three terms. The University is provided with a complete set of instruments made by Ritchie, of Boston, by which the principles of the science are illustrated. Instruction in chemistry is given by lectures and experiments in the laboratory. The University is provided with one of Tolle's microscopes and a set of microscopical apparatus for use of students in the natural and physical sciences.

Charts (botanical and anatomical), globes, maps, orrery, tellurion, etc., are used in the various departments of the school.

MUSEUM.

The museum of the University is arranged on the second floor, and contains collections in geology, zoology, mineralogy, and conchology. The specimens are labeled and arranged for the use of students in these sciences. The University itself is on the Niagara limestone, which is everywhere exposed in bold and picturesque ledges along the Volga River, and which occupies over one-half of Fayette county. Within half a mile of the University, the Hamilton and Niagara formations are exposed, affording abundant specimens of corals—Halysites, Heliolites, Favosites, and Stromatopora; and are also rich in species of Brachiopods—Orthis, Atrypa, Strophomena, Spirifera, and Pentammeri. In Fayette county alone, six geological formations are exposed. The students of the University, therefore, have an opportunity, from time to time, of examining the rock strata and collecting specimens.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three literary societies connected with the University—the Zethegathean, the Philomathean, and the Aonia—affording superior facilities for practice in public speaking, debate, criticism, and parliamentary usage. Each of these societies has its own hall and library, and, during the term, meets regularly once a week.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations are conducted in all the departments at the close of each term, and at the close of the year a public examination is held before a committee appointed by the Conference. All students are required to attend these examinations, and no student will be passed in a study who does not receive seventy in a scale of a hundred.

PROMPTNESS AND PUNCTUALITY.

We cannot too strongly emphasize the fact that the term begins, in every case, on the day advertised, and that the loss of a day at the beginning of the term is a serious inconvenience to the teacher and a positive injury to the student. The attention of parents, guardians, and students is especially called to this. No excuse will be accepted for absence at the beginning of the term, or during term time, unless such absence is unavoidable.

GOVERNMENT AND DISCIPLINE.

Candidates for admission to the various departments of the University are received only on condition and agreement that they will comply with all the published rules and regulations. These are: to attend church service on the Sabbath; to attend chapel service each morning, and all recitations. Absence from church, chapel, or recitation must, in every case, be accounted for in writing. The chapel roll is called at every chapel service, and the church roll on Tuesday morning. Students are not allowed to leave town or be absent from their rooms during study hours, without permission from the President or some one of the Professors, nor board or room at a house not approved by the Faculty. Students are promptly dismissed whenever it is evident, in the judgment of the Faculty, that they are pursuing a course of conduct seriously detrimental to themselves or to the institution.

DEGREES CONFERRED.

The University confers the following degrees in course:

The degree of Bachelor of Arts on those students who complete the Classical course of study.

The degree of Bachelor of Philosophy on those who complete the Latin-Scientific course of study.

The degree of Bachelor of Science on those students who complete the Scientific course of study.

The degree of Master of Arts on Bachelors of Arts and Bachelors of Philosophy, and the degree of Master of Science on Bachelors of Science, of three years' standing, provided that, since graduation, they have sustained a good moral character, and have pursued some literary or scientific calling.

Candidates for these degrees should apply to the President of the University two weeks before Commencement. The applications must be accompanied by a fee of five dollars, to pay for diplomas.

Students who complete the full course of the Commercial Department are awarded a diploma as Master of Accounts.

BOARD.

Board is the chief item of expense in attending college. But parents should not forget that it costs something to live at home as well as abroad. The price of table board at the club, during the past year, has ranged from $1.50 to $1.75 per week, and table board in private families from $1.75 to $2.00 per week. Rooms furnished throughout, and within a convenient distance, can be rented for fifty cents per week, while unfurnished rooms, for self-boarding, or for those who prefer to bring their own furniture, can be had for about half the above price. Board in private families is from $2.00 to $2.50 per week. Students will find it to their advantage to consult with members of the Faculty before engaging rooms or board.

THE LADY PROFESSORSHIP ASSOCIATION.

This Association was incorporated under the laws of Iowa in 1874, with full power to hold and convey property of every kind, to invest or loan money, and to enforce collection of moneys loaned. The Treasurer is required to give bonds to the amount of five thousand dollars for the faithful performance of her duty as custodian of the funds, thereby securing the Association against the possibility of loss. All funds are invested under direction of the Board of Managers, ample security being required in every case, and only the interest used for the purposes of the Association, while the principal is to remain untouched forever. Care is taken to guard every point, in order that the greatest possible security and permanence may be attained, and the object in view most speedily accomplished. The object of this Association is to raise and invest funds for the endowment of a Chair in the University, to be filled by a lady chosen by the joint action of the Trustees and the members of this Association.

Teachers of Latin,
Teachers of Greek,
Teachers of Mathematics,
Teachers of English Literature,
Teachers of Science,

Should Examine the Publications of GINN & HEATH, 56 State Street, CHICAGO.

In Latin, they publish Allen & Greenough's Grammar, which has been introduced into nine-tenths of the Classical Schools of the United States.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF ANN ARBOR, W. S. PERRY, Superintendent. W. D. HARRIMAN, President.

The following action was unanimously taken June 11, 1878:

Resolved, In view of the expressed opinions of the Professors of Ancient Languages in the University of Michigan, and of the classical teachers in the Ann Arbor High School, and in view of the wide use of the Allen & Greenough Latin Course in the best schools of the country, that Allen & Greenough's Latin Grammar be adopted as the basis of instruction in Latin in the Ann Arbor High School.

From Prof. Elisha Jones, University of Michigan.

I have made my references to the new edition of Allen & Greenough's Grammar, and, after a careful examination of it from beginning to end, I am ready to recommend it in preference to all other Latin Grammars. I am convinced that it has merits superior to ————. I hope it will be successful in Michigan, for it is a capital work.

From University Press, Madison, Wis.

It is doubtful whether a literary partnership, productive of such excellent results, has before existed in the United States.

From Prof. W. D. Whitney, Yale College.

Very few, if any, scholars in the country are better qualified than Mr. Greenough to bring the teachings of Comparative Philology to bear upon points of Latin Grammar.

The same authors have issued beautiful editions (with copious notes and vocabularies) of Cæsar, Cicero, Virgil, and Ovid. To accompany the Grammar, there are six different companion books.

In Greek, they publish Goodwin & White's Course. Of Goodwin's Greek Grammar it may be sufficient to say that it has recently been republished by the Macmillans, in England, and has been adopted by the British Public Schools and Universities.

From the London Athenæum.

Messrs. Macmillan have published a new and revised edition of the Elementary Greek Grammar of that distinguished scholar, Prof. Goodwin, of Harvard. It is the best Greek Grammar of its size in the English language, and ought to meet with a wide circulation on this side of the Atlantic.

It is singular that teachers of Greek who aim to be up to the ripest scholarship use any other Grammar.

Teachers of Mathematics should send for a specimen copy ($1.00) of Wentworth's Geometry. Though but recently out, it has been adopted in thirty-five Colleges and over three hundred Academies and High Schools. It is an epoch book in the science.

In English and Science, they are publishing delightful monographs. The study of Shakespeare and other classic writers (such as Webster, Burke, Burns, Irving, Milton, Coleridge, and Wordsworth) has received a new impetus since the appearance of the cheap and handy editions of this publishing house.

Send for a complete catalogue of books. Sent free to teachers.

JOHN WILEY & SONS,

15 ASTOR PLACE, NEW YORK,

PUBLISH THE FOLLOWING VALUABLE

TEXT BOOKS

For Schools, Colleges, and Polytechnic Institutions,

All of which have been most favorably received, and are now in use in many of the leading Institutions in the United States.

ASSAYING.—Bodeman & Kerl's Assaying, 12mo ..... $ 2 50
Mitchell's Practical Assaying, 8vo 10 00
Rickett's Assayiag and Assay Schemes, 8vo, new edition enlarged 3 00
These are suited to Laboratory work, reference and text books, and bear a high reputation in this country and England.

ASTRONOMY.—Norton's Astronomy, Spherical and Physical, 8vo 3 50

BOTANY.—Thome Structural and Physiological 2 25
This is the text book in Germany; in general use in England, and has met with remarkable success here. It is used in most of the Scientific Schools and Ladies' Seminaries, as well as in several prominent Agricultural Colleges.

CHEMISTRY.—Craft's Qualitative Chemical Analysis, 12mo 1 50
Johnson's Fresenius Qualitative Analysis, 8vo 3 50
Johnson's Fresenius Quantitative Analysis, 8vo 4 50
Miller's Chemical Physics, 8vo 4 00
Miller's Inorganic Chemistry, 8vo 6 00
Miller's Organic Chemistry (new edition nearly ready), 8vo 10 00
Thorpe's Quantitative Chemical Analysis, 18mo 1 50
Paul's Industrial Chemistry (698 engravings, 1,000 pages; new work, just ready), 8vo 6 00
These works are elementary in some instances, and developed into text and Laboratory books suited to advanced students. The last work is partly translated from the celebrated work of Stohman & Engler, suited to students as a text book, and for manufacturing chemists.

DRAWING, ETC.—Warren's Graded Series, including Free-Hand Drawing, 12mo 75
Drafting Instruments and Operations, 12mo 1 25
Projection Drawing 1 50
Plane Problems, 12mo 1 25
Linear Perspective 1 00
Elements of Descriptive Geometry, Shadows and Perspective, 8vo 3 50
General Problems in Shades and Shadows, 8vo 3 00
Higher Perspective, 8vo 3 70
Elements of Machine Drawing (2 vols.), 8vo 7 50
Stereotomy Problems in Stone Cutting, 8vo 2 50
All these are specially suited for self-instruction.

ENGINEERING.—Du Bois' Elements of Graphical Statics (2 vols.), 8vo 5 00
Du Bois' Weisbach's Hydraulics, and Hydraulic Motors, 8vo 6 00
Mahan's Civil Engineering (new edition, by Prof. Wood), 8vo 5 00
Wheeler's Civil Engineering, 8vo 4 00
Wood's Resistance of Materials, 8vo 3 00
Wood's Bridges and Roofs, 8vo 3 00

MECHANICS.—Wood's Principles of Elementary Mechanics, 12mo 1 50
Wood's Analytical Mechanics, 8vo 3 00
Wood's Magnus' Elementary Mechanics, 12mo 1 50
Prof. Wood's works constitute a complete series, from Collegiate and Academical up to Technical Instruction.

MINERALOGY.—Brush Determinative Mineralogy and Blowpipe Analysis, 8vo 3 50
Dana System of Mineralogy, 8vo 10 00
Dana Text Book Mineralogy, containing the latest discoveries in Crystallography, 8vo 5 00
Dana Manual of Mineralogy and Lithology, 12mo, cloth 2 00

STEAM ENGINE.—Du Bois' Weisbach's Theory of Steam Engine, with American practice, by R. H. Buel, 8vo 6 00
Trowbridge's Heat as a Source of Power, 8vo 3 50

The above embrace only a portion of the scientific publications of John Wiley & Sons. Full catalogues mailed gratis. A single copy of any of our text books will be sent free by mail, for examination, with reference to introduction, on receipt of two-thirds of the printed price. Orders for Europe forwarded semi-weekly. Catalogues from Europe gratis.

LANGUAGE LESSONS—GRAMMAR—COMPOSITION.

A COMPLETE COURSE IN TWO BOOKS ONLY.

Graded Lessons in English.

162 Pages, 16mo, Bound in Cloth.

BY ALONZO REED, A. M.,
Instructor in English Grammar in the Brooklyn Collegiate and Polytechnic Institute.

AND

Higher Lessons in English.

280 Pages, 16mo, Bound in Cloth.

BRAINERD KELLOGG, A. M.,
Professor of English Language and Literature in Brooklyn Collegiate and Polytechnic Institute.

12 POINTS

Wherein We Claim These Works to Excel.

PLAN.—The science of the language is made tributary to the art of expression. Every principle is fixed in memory and in practice by an exhaustive drill in composing sentences, arranging and rearranging their parts, contracting, expanding, punctuating, and criticising them. There is thus given a complete course in technical Grammar and Composition, more thorough and attractive than if each subject were treated separately.

GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION TAUGHT TOGETHER.—We claim that Grammar and Composition can be better and more economically taught together than separately; that each helps the other, and furnishes the occasion to teach the other, and that both can be taught together in the time that would be required for either alone.

A COMPLETE COURSE IN ONLY TWO BOOKS.—The two books completely cover the ground of Grammar and Composition, from the time the scholar usually begins the subject until it is finished in the High School or Academy.

METHOD.—The authors' method in teaching these books is as follows: (1.) The principles are presented inductively in the "Hints for Oral Instruction." (2.) This instruction is carefully gathered up in brief definitions for the pupil to memorize. (3.) A variety of exercises in Analysis, Parsing, and Composition is given, which impress the principles on the mind of the scholar, and compel him to understand them.

AUTHORS—PRACTICAL TEACHERS.—The books were prepared by men who have made a life-work of teaching Grammar and Composition, and both of them occupy high positions in their profession.

GRADING.—No pains have been spared in grading the books so as to afford the least possible difficulty to the young student. This is very important, and could scarcely be accomplished by any who are not practical teachers.

DEFINITIONS.—The definitions, principles, and rules are stated in the same language in both books, and cannot be excelled.

MODELS FOR PARSING.—The models for parsing are simple, original, and worthy of careful attention.

SYSTEM OF DIAGRAMS.—The system of diagrams, although it forms no vital part of the work, is the best extant.

SENTENCES FOR ANALYSIS.—The sentences for analysis have been selected with great care, and are of unusual excellence.

QUESTIONS AND REVIEWS.—There is a more thorough system of questions and reviews than in any other works of the kind.

CHEAPNESS.—In introducing these books there is a great saving of money, as the prices for first introduction and for subsequent use are very low.

DEPARTMENTS OF THE COLLEGE.

To carry out the aim of the institution so as to meet the various educational wants of the patronizing territory, and the purposes of different students, the work is distributed to the College proper, a Preparatory Academic School, a Normal Course (running parallel with many of the studies in the Preparatory Department and in the College), a Business College, a Conservatory of Music, and an Art School.

For the work of the College, three courses of study are marked out — the Classical, the Latin-Scientific, and the Scientific.

THE CLASSICAL COURSE

Is, in all respects, substantially the same as in the best American Colleges. It embraces those branches of study which long experience has shown to be the best adapted to secure a symmetrical mental development and liberal attainments in education. The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on all who complete this course.

THE LATIN-SCIENTIFIC COURSE

Is equivalent to the Classical in the requisites for admission, the time required to complete it, and, it is believed, in its value for mental discipline. It differs in the substitution of modern languages for Greek, and in a more extended study in natural science and philosophy. The degree of Bachelor of Philosophy is conferred on those who complete this course.

THE SCIENTIFIC COURSE

Is adapted to the wants of those who prefer practical studies. Thought, faithfully applied to any subject, develops mental power. This course in science, mathematics, English literature, modern languages, and philosophy, secures to the student thorough drill, while furnishing practical knowledge and direct preparation for active life. The same time is required as in the other courses. The degree of Bachelor of Science is given on its completion.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

This is intended to provide for the preparation of students for the College courses of study. All students entering school are urged to undertake some one of the courses, since experience has proved that those who fail to do this have occasion frequently to regret their indecision. To those, however, who are unable to follow any regular course, this department offers all the advantages of a first-class Academy or Seminary. Candidates for admission must be prepared to pass an examination in the elements of the common English branches.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

Students desiring to enter one of the College courses will be examined in the Preparatory studies of the same course, and must present satisfactory evidence of good moral character.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must be examined in the studies that have been pursued by the class which they wish to enter, or in others equivalent to them.

Those coming from another College, and bringing certificates of dismission, may be admitted to corresponding standing in this College.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

As many students desire to obtain a thorough knowledge of the English branches, with a special view to teaching, this department has been organized with direct reference to this class. It furnishes ample facilities for thorough scholarship in the elementary branches, and also in higher mathematics, English literature, and philosophy.

Besides this, should a sufficient number desire it, a Normal class will be formed each term, which will furnish opportunity for text-book recitations on theory and practice of teaching, school management, etc., and also afford opportunities for practical work and criticism. All students who satisfactorily complete the prescribed course of study in this department, and pass the required examination, receive from the Faculty, if desired, a certificate of advanced standing or scholarship.

BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The ordinary Business College is the outgrowth of the felt wants of modern competitive business life. It is usually defective, as it fails to supply the general knowledge on which a technical training, in order to be successful, must be based. The presence of a school of this kind within the walls of an institution of learning, is surely a great advantage to the commercial student who is deficient in his knowledge of the elementary branches. It ought not to be overlooked by those desiring a business education, that students have the opportunity of attending classes in any department of the school, and of thus acquiring that knowledge of spelling, punctuation, phraseology, and structure of sentences, so frequently overlooked in Business Colleges, but so very important in actual life.

Besides this, it is confidently believed that the course includes all that is taught in the leading American Commercial Colleges, and at one-half the cost.

Penmanship is taught without extra charge, not only to the students of the Commercial Department, but to all others who choose to avail themselves of it.

COURSE OF STUDY.

PREPARATORY.

First Division.— Language of Trade, Business Papers, Commercial Definitions, Elements of Penmanship.

Second Division.— Business Correspondence, Forms of Day Book, Cash Book, Journal, and Ledger, Penmanship.

Third Division.— Day Book, Ledger, Method of Changing Books from Single to Double Entry, Ledger Headings, Closing of Books, Penmanship.

JUNIOR.

First Division.— Advanced Transactions in Merchandizing, Retail Trade, Commercial Law, Complete Account — a new form of Double Entry.

Second Division.— Wholesale and Retail Trade, First Method of Compound Companies, Account Sales, Bills of Exchange.

Third Division.— Invoice Book, Sale Book, Cash Book, Journal, Ledger, Method of Changing Books from Double to Single Entry.

MIDDLE.

First Division.— Jobbing, Interest Accounts, Equation of Payments, Mercantile Correspondence, Business Forms, Penmanship.

Second Division.— Forwarding and Commission, Joint Stock Companies, Journalizing, Laws of Promissory Notes, Drafts, Checks, etc., Averaging Accounts.

THIRD DIVISION.—Second Method of Compound Companies, Merchandise and Adventure Companies, Arbitration of Exchange, Bankruptcy, Commercial Law.

SENIOR.

FIRST DIVISION.— Offices: Express, Railroad; Six Column Journal, Commercial Law.

SECOND DIVISION.— Merchants' Emporium, representing business as conducted in a first-class wholesale establishment.

THIRD DIVISION.— Banks of Deposit, Discount, and Circulation, having regular subscriptions for shares, and conducted in accordance with the State and National Laws on Banking.

The course can be completed in from three to six months, according to the ability and application of the students. The degree of Master of Accounts is conferred upon graduates.

A partial course — called Clerk's Course — is organized for those who do not wish to pursue the full course.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

The Conservatory of Music was organized in 1877, to meet the growing demand for instruction of a high grade, and its success has demonstrated the wisdom of those who projected it. Music is no longer considered a mere accomplishment, but an indispensable part of an education. Its refining and elevating influence cannot be measured. In all ages it has been cultivated; but at no previous period, ancient or modern, has such an interest been taken in this important branch as during the last decade or two. To meet this great awakening, inferior performers and superficial teachers have sprung up in every town, but they have failed to satisfy the public demand. The time has come when the people require and will patronize Conservatories of Music that afford ample facilities for a thorough musical education, both practical and theoretical. Special attention will be given to those who desire to prepare themselves to become teachers.

THE PIANO DEPARTMENT.

FIRST YEAR.

Loeschhorn's Easy Studies.
Duvernoy's Ecole du Mecanisme.
Kohler's First Studies, Op. 50.
Czerny's Exercises, Op. 636.

SECOND YEAR.

Czerny's Etudes de la Velocite, Op. 299.
Loeschhorn's Studies, Op. 66.
Czerny's Studies, Op. 740.
Kullak's Octave Studies.

THIRD YEAR.

Loeschhorn's Studies, Op. 67.
Cramer's Studies.
Bach's Preludes and Fugues.
Moscheles' Studies for Piano.

Mason's Technics and Clementi's "Gradus ad Parnassum" will be used during the course, also such pieces as are calculated to refine the taste and cultivate a good style of performance.

VOCAL TRAINING.

The course in Vocal Training will include two years, and employ the studies of Concone, Bassini, and Vaccai.

HARMONY AND COMPOSITION.

Palmer's Theory of Music and Richter's Manual are used.

REHEARSALS.

Frequent rehearsals will be given, to accustom pupils to performance before others, and to denote their improvement.

PAINTING AND DRAWING.

The increased power which a knowledge of drawing gives to the teacher in the primary and grammar schools, the general feeling that this important branch of education has been neglected, and a desire to meet the wants of those who seek to prosecute their studies in fine art, prove the necessity of this department in an institution of higher learning.

Instruction is given in penciling, embracing outline drawing and perspective, in crayon sketching, and in oil colors.

It is the design not only to afford a knowledge of art, as such, but to give such instruction as shall be of value in practical life.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

LOCATION.

The Upper Iowa University is located at Fayette, Fayette county, Iowa, seventy-five miles northwest of Dubuque, one hundred and twenty-five miles north of Davenport, and one hundred and fifty miles south of St. Paul. It is reached by three lines of railway — the Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Dubuque & Pacific, and the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern. Fayette is free from all those demoralizing influences found in the large cities and many of the smaller towns. There are no saloons or billiard halls.

The University occupies the center of the campus of ten acres, and overlooks as picturesque scenery as can be found in the Mississippi Valley. To the east and south stretches a gradually sloping plain, terminated by circuitous bluffs — not sufficiently elevated, however, to obstruct the extended view beyond. To the north and west, not many rods distant, runs the Volga River, so celebrated for its bold and ever-changing scenery. A great German savant made a very accurate remark when he said: "Nothing which comes through your eyes into your head ever goes out." The impressions obtained from the sense of sight are of the most lasting character; hence the benefit accruing to young people in spending their scholastic life in the midst of surroundings where the eye is constantly greeted with pleasing and attractive objects.

THE BUILDING.

The University building — erected in 1857, by the munificence of Robert Alexander and S. H. Robertson — is constructed of limestone, obtained from the quarries in the immediate vicinity of Fayette. It is a substantial structure, one hundred feet long by fifty wide, three stories high. On the first floor, with the main entrances on the east and west, and another on the south, are the chapel, music and recitation rooms. On the second floor are recitation rooms, commercial rooms, music rooms, parlor, and museum. On the third floor are the society halls, the studio, and the library.

APPARATUS.

The instruction given in physics embraces, in all courses, three terms. The University is provided with a complete set of instruments made by Ritchie, of Boston, by which the principles of the science are illustrated. Instruction in chemistry is given by lectures and experiments in the laboratory. The University is provided with one of Tolle's microscopes and a set of microscopical apparatus for the use of students in the natural and physical sciences.

Charts (botanical and anatomical), globes, maps, orrery, tellurion, etc., are used in the various departments of the school.

MUSEUM.

The museum of the University is arranged on the second floor, and contains collections in geology, zoology, mineralogy, and conchology. The specimens are labeled and arranged for the use of students in these sciences. The University itself is on the Niagara limestone, which is everywhere exposed in bold and picturesque ledges along the Volga River, and which occupies over one-half of Fayette county. Within half a mile of the University, the Hamilton and Niagara formations are exposed, affording abundant specimens of corals — Halysites, Heliolites, Favosites, and Stromatopora; and are also rich in species of Brachipods — Orthis, Atrypa, Strophomena, Spirifera, and Pentammeri. In Fayette county alone, six geological formations are exposed. The students of the University, therefore, have an opportunity, from time to time, of examining the rock strata and collecting specimens.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three literary societies connected with the University — the Zethegathean, the Philomathean, and the Aonia — affording superior facilities for practice in public speaking, debate, criticism, and parliamentary usage. Each of these societies has its own hall and library, and, during the term, meets regularly once a week.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations are conducted in all the departments at the close of each term, and at the close of the year a public examination is held before a committee appointed by the Conference. All students are required to attend these examinations, and no student will be passed in a study who does not receive seventy in a scale of a hundred.

FACTS OF INTEREST.

During the past two years, many repairs and substantial improvements have been made:

The campus has been made more attractive by planting, in the spring of 1880, many evergreens and other trees.

A general repairing of the roof and interior of the building was made last summer, at an outlay of $325.

During the present school year, the Zethegathean Society entirely refurnished and improved their hall, at an expense of $212; to which may be added a similar improvement in the Philomathean Hall the previous year, costing $175, and valuable and permanent improvements made the present year by the Aonia Society, costing $60 — a total of $450 spent on the halls of the three societies.

An addition, the present year, to the library of upwards of two hundred and fifty volumes of standard works, including a cyclopedia and a complete set of Littell's Living Age, at an outlay of $300.

And, finally, the liquidation of an embarrassing debt of $4,700 against the institution was successfully accomplished during the year.

PHYSICAL EXERCISE.

The students have been formed into an independent company of state militia, under the laws of the state of Iowa, and in suitable weather are regularly drilled in military tactics.

ORATORY.

An annual prize of twenty dollars, maintained by Rev. Elon Foster, D. D., is awarded to the student who shall write and pronounce an oration in the best manner. Miss Minnie Brunson, the student who received this prize the present year, also carried off the first prize at the State Oratorical Contest.

PROMPTNESS AND PUNCTUALITY.

We cannot too strongly emphasize the fact that the term begins, in every case, on the day advertised, and that the loss of a day at the beginning of the term is a serious inconvenience to the teacher and a positive injury to the student. The attention of parents, guardians, and students is especially called to this. No excuse will be accepted for absence at the beginning of the term, or during term time, unless such absence is unavoidable.

GOVERNMENT AND DISCIPLINE.

Candidates for admission to the various departments of the University are received only on condition and agreement that they will comply with all the published rules and regulations. These are: to attend church service on the Sabbath; to attend chapel service each morning, and all recitations. Absence from church, chapel, or recitation must, in every case, be accounted for in writing. The chapel roll is called at every chapel service, and the church roll on Tuesday morning. Students are not allowed to leave town or be absent from their rooms during study hours, without permission from the President or some one of the Professors, nor board or room at a house not approved by the Faculty. Students are promptly dismissed whenever it is evident, in the judgment of the Faculty, that they are pursuing a course of conduct seriously detrimental to themselves or to the institution.

DEGREES CONFERRED.

The University confers the following degrees in course:

The degree of Bachelor of Arts on those students who complete the Classical course of study.

The degree of Bachelor of Philosophy on those who complete the Latin-Scientific course of study.

The degree of Bachelor of Science on those students who complete the Scientific course of study.

The degree of Master of Arts on Bachelors of Arts and Bachelors of Philosophy, and the degree of Master of Science on Bachelors of Science, of three years' standing, provided that, since graduation, they have sustained a good moral character, and have pursued some literary or scientific calling.

Candidates for these degrees should apply to the President of the University two weeks before Commencement. The applications must be accompanied by a fee of five dollars, to pay for diplomas.

Students who complete the full course of the Commercial Department are awarded a diploma as Master of Accounts.

Students who complete the course of Piano or Vocal Training are awarded a diploma as Bachelor of Music.

BOARD.

Board is the chief item of expense in attending college. But parents should not forget that it costs something to live at home as well as abroad. The price of table board at the club, during the past year, has ranged from $1.75 to $1.80 per week, and table board in private families from $1.75 to $2.00 per week. Rooms furnished throughout, and within a convenient distance, can be rented for fifty cents per week, while unfurnished rooms, for self-boarding, or for those who prefer to bring their own furniture, can be had for about half the above price. Board in private families is from $2.00 to $2.50 per week. Students will find it to their advantage to consult with members of the Faculty before engaging rooms or board. The Boarding Hall is controlled by the institution, and a member of the Faculty has charge of the club.

THE LADY PROFESSORSHIP ASSOCIATION.

This Association was incorporated under the laws of Iowa in 1874, with full power to hold and convey property of every kind, to invest or loan money, and to enforce collection of moneys loaned. The Treasurer is required to give bonds to the amount of five thousand dollars for the faithful performance of her duty as custodian of the funds, thereby securing the Association against the possibility of loss. All funds are invested under direction of the Board of Managers, ample security being required in every case, and only the interest used for the purposes of the Association, while the principal is to remain untouched forever. Care is taken to guard every point, in order that the greatest possible security and permanence may be attained, and the object in view most speedily accomplished. The object of this Association is to raise and invest funds for the endowment of a chair in the University, to be filled by a lady chosen by the joint action of the Trustees and the members of this Association.

D. APPLETON & CO.

1, 3, & 5 BOND STREET, NEW YORK.

C. BECKINGTON, Agent, Des Moines, Iowa.

Teachers of Latin,
Teachers of Greek,
Teachers of Mathematics,
Teachers of English Literature,

Should Examine the Publications of GINN, HEATH & CO., No. 180 Wabash Avenue, CHICAGO.

In Latin they publish Allen & Greenough's Grammar, which has been introdnced into nine-tenths of the Classical Schools of the United States.

The same authors have issued beautiful editions, (with copious notes and vocabularies,) of Cæsar, Cicero, Virgil, and Ovid. To accompany the Grammar, there are six different companion books.

In Greek, they publish Goodwin & White's Course. Of Goodwin's Greek Grammar it may be sufficient to say that it has recently been republished by the Macmillans, in England, and has been adopted by the British Public Schools and Universities.

From the London Athenæum.

Messrs. Macmillan have published a new and revised edition of the Elementary Greek Grammar of that distinguished scholar, Prof. Goodwin, of Harvard. It is the best Greek Grammar of its size in the English language, and ought to meet with a wide circulation on this side of the Atlantic.

Wentworth's Plane and Solid Geometry.
Wentworth's Algebra.
Hill's Geometry for Beginners.

These books are new and contain many excellent features not found in other books on these subjects.

Just Published (September 1st, 1880).

THE TEACHER'S EDITION OF WHITNEY & KNOX'S

"ELEMENTARY LESSONS IN ENGLISH."

The following are a few of the merits which distinguish it from other Language Lessons now before the public:

The Teachers' Edition contains the text of the children's book entire, and, in addition, plans for developing the lessons of the text; Observation Lessons; Dictation and Text Exercises; Question for Oral and Written Reviews; Materials for Composition Exercises; Plans for Conducting Picture Lessons, etc., etc.

Price to Teachers, 56 Cents.

PATENT ADJUSTABLE ADDITION TABLETS.

These Tablets are so arranged that new sums are made in a second, and all the time allowed is given to practice. Directions for rapid work are also given on each Tablet.

☞ Ten per cent discount on orders for six or more of class tablets.

Office of Superintendent of Public Schools,
Oakland, December 9th, 1880.

I consider Ginn's Adjustable Addition Tablets one of the most useful and desirable pieces of school apparatus that has ever been invented. The time saved by its use will more than pay for its cost each month. It should be put into every school-room in the land. J. C. GILSON, Supt. of Schools, Alameda Co., Cal.

Signed also by John W. Taylor, Superintendent of Common Schools for the city and county of San Francisco, California. D. C. STONE, Deputy Superintendent.

The above Lessons and Tablets will greatly aid the teacher and improve the work of the pupil. For samples or fuller descriptions and catalogues address,

JOHN WILEY & SONS,

15 ASTOR PLACE, NEW YORK,

PUBLISH THE FOLLOWING VALUABLE

TEXT BOOKS

For Schools, Colleges, and Polytechnic Institutions,

All of which have been most favorably received, and are now in use in many of the leading Institutions in the United States.

ASSAYING.—Bodeman & Kerl's Assaying, 12mo ..... $ 2 50
Mitchell's Practical Assaying, 8vo 10 00
Rickett's Assaying and Assay Schemes, 8vo, new edition, enlarged 3 00
These are suited to Laboratory work, reference and text books, and bear a high reputation in this country and England.

ASTRONOMY.—Norton's Astronomy, Spherical and Physical, 8vo 3 50

BOTANY.—Thome Structural and Physiological 2 25
This is the text book in Germany; in general use in England, and has met with remarkable success here. It is used in many of the Scientific Schools and Ladies' Seminaries, as well as in several prominent Agricultural Colleges.

CHEMISTRY.—Craft's Qualitative Chemical Analysis, 12mo 1 50
Johnson's Fresenius Qualitative Analysis, 8vo 3 50
Johnson's Fresenius Quantitative Analysis, 8vo [new edition, new notations, etc.] 6 00
Miller's Chemical Physics, 8vo 4 00
Miller's Inorganic Chemistry, 8vo 6 00
Miller's Organic Chemistry [new edition nearly ready], 8vo 10 00
Thorpe's Quantitative Chemical Analysis, 18mo 1 50
Paul's Industrial Chemistry [698 engravings, 1,000 pages; new work, just ready], 8vo 6 00
These works are elementary in some instances, and developed into text and Laboratory books suited to advanced students. The last work is partly translated from the celebrated work of Stohman & Engler, suited to students as a text book, and for manufacturing chemists.

DRAWING, ETC.—Warren's Graded Series, including Free-Hand Drawing, 12mo 1 00
Drafting Instruments and Operations, 12mo 1 25
Projection Drawing 1 50
Plane Problems, 12mo 1 25
Linear Perspective 1 00
Elements of Descriptive Geometry, Shadows and Perspective, 8vo 3 50
General Problems in Shades and Shadows, 8vo 3 00
Higher Perspective, 8vo 3 70
Elements of Machine Drawing (2 vols.) 8vo 7 50
Stereotomy Problems in Stone Cutting, 8vo 2 50
All these are especially suited for self-instruction.

ENGINEERING.—Du Bois' Elements of Graphical Statics (2 vols.) 8vo 5 00
Du Bois' Weisbach's Hydraulics and Hydraulic Motors, 8vo 6 00
Mahan's Civil Engineering, new edition by Prof. Wood, 8vo 5 00
Wheeler's Civil Engineering, 8vo 4 00
Wood's Resistance of Materials, 8vo 3 00
Wood's Bridges and Roofs, 8vo 3 00

MECHANICS.—Wood's Principles of Elementary Mechanics, 12mo 1 50
Dana's Text Book of Mechanics, 12mo 1 50
Wood's Analytical Mechanics, 8vo 3 00
Wood's Magnus' Elementary Mechanics, 12mo 1 50
Prof. Wood's works constitute a complete series, from Collegiate and Academical up to Technical Instruction.

MINERALOGY.—Brush Determinative Mineralogy and Blowpipe Analysis, 8vo 3 50
Dana System of Mineralogy, 8vo 10 00
Dana Text Book Mineralogy, containing the latest discoveries in Crystallography, 8vo 3 50
Dana Manual of Mineralogy and Lithology, 12mo, cloth 2 00

STEAM ENGINE.—Du Bois' Weisbach's Theory of Steam Engine, with American practice, by R. H. Buel, 8vo 6 00
Trowbridge's Heat as a Source of Power, 8vo 3 50

The above embrace only a portion of the scientific publications of John Wiley & Sons. Full catalogues mailed gratis. A single copy of any of our text books will be sent free by mail, for examination with reference to introduction, on receipt of two-thirds of the printed price. Orders for Europe forwarded semi-weekly. Catalogues from Europe gratis.

Departments of the College.

To carry out the aim of the institution so as to meet the various educational wants of the patronizing territory, and the purposes of different students, the work is distributed to the College proper, a Preparatory Academic School, a Normal Course (running parallel with many of the studies in the Preparatory Department and in the College), a Business College, a Conservatory of Music, and an Art School.

For the work of the College, three courses of study are marked out —the Classical, the Latin-Scientific, and the Scientific.

The Classical Course

is, in all respects, substantially the same as in the best American Colleges. It embraces those branches of study which long experience has shown to be the best adapted to secure a symmetrical mental development and liberal attainments in education. The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on all who complete this course.

The Latin-Scientific Course

is equivalent to the Classical in the requisites for admission, the time required to complete it, and, it is believed, in its value for mental discipline. It differs in the substitution of modern languages for Greek, and in a more extended study in natural science and philosophy. The degree of Bachelor of Philosophy is conferred on those who complete this course.

The Scientific Course

is adapted to the wants of those who prefer practical studies. Thought, faithfully applied to any subject, develops mental power. This course in science, mathematics, English literature, modern languages, and philosophy, secures to the student thorough drill, while furnishing practical knowledge and direct preparation for active life. The same time is required as in the other courses. The degree of Bachelor of Science is given on its completion.

Requirements for Admission.

Students desiring to enter one of the College courses will be examined in the Preparatory studies of the same course, and must present satisfactory evidence of good moral character.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must be examined in the studies that have been pursued by the class which they wish to enter, or in others equivalent to them.

Those coming from another College, and bringing certificates of dismission, may be admitted to corresponding standing in this College.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

This is intended to provide for the preparation of students for the College courses of study. All students entering school are urged to undertake some one of the courses, since experience has proved that those who fail to do this have occasion frequently to regret their indecision. To those, however, who are unable to follow any regular course, this department offers all the advantages of a first-class Academy or Seminary. Candidates for admission must be prepared to pass an examination in the elements of the common English branches.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

As many students desire to obtain a thorough knowledge of the English branches, with a special view to teaching, this department has been organized with direct reference to this class. It furnishes ample facilities for thorough scholarship in the elementary branches, and also in higher mathematics, English literature, and philosophy, the College classes in all these studies being open to any who may have the requisite preparation.

Besides this, should a sufficient number desire it, a Normal class will be formed each term, which will furnish opportunity for text-book recitations on theory and practice of teaching, school management, etc., and also afford opportunities for practical work and criticism.

BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The ordinary Business College is the outgrowth of the felt wants of modern competitive business life. It is usually defective, as it fails to supply the general knowledge on which a technical training, in order to be successful, must be based. The presence of a school of this kind within the walls of an institution of learning, is surely a great advantage to the commercial student who is deficient in his knowledge of the elementary branches. It ought not to be overlooked by those desiring a business education, that students have the opportunity of attending classes in any department of the school, and of thus acquiring the knowledge of spelling, punctuation, phraseology, and structure of sentences, so frequently overlooked in Business Colleges, but so very important in actual life.

Besides this, it is confidently believed that the course includes all that is taught in the leading American Business Colleges, and at one-half the cost.

Penmanship is taught without extra charge, not only to the students of the Commercial Department, but to all others who choose to avail themselves of it.

Course of Study.

PREPARATORY.

First Division.—Language of Trade, Business Papers, Commercial Definitions, Elements of Penmanship.

Second Division.—Business Correspondence, Forms of Day Book, Cash Book, Journal, and Ledger, Penmanship.

Third Division.—Day Book, Ledger, Method of Changing Books from Single to double Entry, Ledger headings, Closing of Books, Penmanship.

Second Division.—Wholesale and Retail Trade, First Method of Compound Companies, Account Sales, Bills of Exchange.

Third Division.—Invoice Book, Sale Book, Cash Book, Journal, Ledger, Method of Changing Books from Double to Single Entry.

MIDDLE.

First Division.—Jobbing, Interest Accounts, Equation of Payments, Mercantile Correspondence, Business Forms, Penmanship.

Second Division.—Forwarding and Commission, Joint Stock Companies, Journalizing, Laws of Promissory Notes, Drafts, Checks, etc., Averaging Accounts.

THIRD DIVISION.—Second Method of Compound Companies, Merchandise and Adventure Companies, Arbitration of Exchange, Bankruptcy, Commercial Law.

SENIOR.

FIRST DIVISION.—Offices: Express, Railroad; Six Column Journal, Commercial Law.

SECOND DIVISION.—Merchants' Emporium, representing business as conducted in a first-class wholesale establishment.

THIRD DIVISION.—Banks of Deposit, Discount, and Circulation, having regular subscriptions for shares, and conducted in accordance with the State and National Laws on Banking.

The course can be completed in from three to six months, according to the ability and application of the students. The degree of Master of Accounts is conferred upon graduates.

A partial course—called Clerk's Course—is organized for those who do not wish to pursue the full course.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

The Conservatory of Music was organized in 1877, to meet the growing demand for instruction of a high grade, and its success has demonstrated the wisdom of those who projected it. Music is no longer considered a mere accomplishment, but an indispensable part of an education. Its refining and elevating influence cannot be measured. In all ages it has been cultivated; but at no previous period, ancient or modern, has such an interest been taken in this important branch as during the last decade or two. To meet this great awakening and interest in the study of music, teachers have sprung up in every town, but they have failed to satisfy the public demand. The time has come when the people require, and will patronize Conservatories of Music that afford ample facilities for a thorough musical education, both practical and theoretical. Special attention will be given to those who desire to prepare themselves to become teachers.

The Piano Department.

FIRST YEAR.

Loeschorn's Easy Studies.
Duvernoy's Ecole du Mecanisme.
Kohler's First Studies, Op. 50.
Czerny's Exercises, Op. 636.

SECOND YEAR.

Czerny's Etudes de la Velocite, Op. 299.
Loeschhorn's Studies, Op. 66.
Czerny's Studies, Op. 740.
Kullak's Octave Studies.

THIRD YEAR.

Loeschhorn's Studies, Op. 67.
Cramer's Studies.
Bach's Preludes and Fugues.
Moschele's studies for Piano.

Mason's Technics and Clementi's "Gradus and Parnassum" will be used during the course, also such pieces as are calculated to refine the taste and cultivate a good style of performance.

Vocal Training.

The course in vocal Training will include two years, and employ the studies of Concone, Bassini, and Vaccai.

Harmony and Composition.

Palmer's Theory of Music and Richter's Manual are used.

Rehearsals.

Frequent rehearsals will be given to accustom pupils to performance before others, and to denote their improvement.

PAINTING AND DRAWING.

The increased power which a knowledge of drawing gives to the teacher in the primary and grammar schools, the general feeling that this important branch of education has been neglected, and a desire to meet the wants of those who seek to prosecute their studies in fine art, prove the necessity of this department in an institution of higher learning.

Instruction is given in penciling, embracing outline drawing and perspective, in crayon sketching, and in oil colors.

It is the design not only to afford a knowledge of art, as such, but to give such instruction as shall be of value in practical life.

General Information.

Location.

The Upper Iowa University is located at Fayette, Fayette county, Iowa, seventy-five miles northwest of Dubuque, one hundred and twenty-five miles north of Davenport, and one hundred and fifty miles south of St. Paul. It is reached by three lines of railway—the Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Dubuque and Pacific, and the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern. Fayette is free from all those demoralizing influences found in the large cities and many of the smaller towns. There are no saloons or billiard halls.

The University occupies the center of the campus of ten acres, and overlooks as picturesque scenery as can be found in the Mississippi Valley. To the east and south stretches a gradually sloping plain, terminated by circuitous bluffs—not sufficiently elevated, however, to obstruct the extended view beyond. To the north and west, not many rods distant, runs the Volga river, so celebrated for its bold and ever-changing scenery. A great German savant made a very accurate remark when he said: "Nothing which comes through your eyes into your head ever goes out." The impressions obtained from the sense of sight are of the most lasting character; hence the benefit accruing to young people in spending their scholastic life in the midst of surroundings where the eye is constantly greeted with pleasing and attractive objects.

The Building.

The University building—erected in 1857, by the munificence of Robert Alexander and S. H. Robertson—is constructed of limestone, obtained from the quarries in the immediate vicinity of Fayette. It is a substantial structure, one hundred feet long by fifty wide, three stories high. On the first floor, with the main entrances on the east and west, and another on the south, are the chapel, music and recitation rooms. On the second floor are recitation rooms, commercial rooms, music rooms, parlor and museum. On the third floor are the society halls, the studio, and the library.

Apparatus.

The instruction given in physics embraces, in all courses, three terms. The University is provided with a complete set of instruments made by Ritchie, of Boston, by which the principles of the science are illustrated. Instruction in chemistry is given by lectures and experiments in the laboratory. The University is provided with one of Tolle's microscopes and a set of microscopical apparatus for the use of students in the natural and physical sciences.

Charts (botanical and anatomical), globes, maps, orrery, tellurion, etc., are used in the various departments of the school.

Museum.

The museum of the University is arranged on the second floor, and contains collections in geology, zoology, mineralogy, and conchology. The specimens are labeled and arranged for the use of students in these sciences. The University itself is on the Niagara limestone, which is everywhere exposed in bold and picturesque ledges along the Volga river, and which occupies over one-half of Fayette county. Within half a mile of the University, the Hamilton and Niagara formations are exposed, affording abundant specimens of corals—Halysites, Heliolites, Favosites, and Stromatopora; and are also rich in species of Brachiopods—Orthis, Atrypa, Strophomena, Spirifera, and Pentammeri. In Fayette county alone, six geological formations are exposed. The students of the University, therefore, have an opportunity, from time to time, of examining the rock strata and collecting specimens.

Literary Societies.

There are three literary societies connected with the University—the Philomathean, the Zethegathean, and the Aonia—affording superior facilities for practice in public speaking, debate, criticism, and parliamentary usage. Each of these societies has its own hall and library, and, during the term, meets regularly once a week.

Examinations.

Examinations are conducted in all the departments at the close of each term, and at the close of the year a public examination is held before a committee appointed by the Conference. All students are required to attend these examinations, and no student will be passed in a study who does not receive seventy in a scale of a hundred.

Facts of Interest.

During the past two years, many repairs and substantial improvements have been made.

The campus has been made more attractive by planting many evergreens and other trees.

A general repairing of the roof and interior of the building has been made at an outlay of $325.

During the past school year, the Zethegathean Society entirely refurnished and improved their hall, at an expense of $212; to which may be added a similar improvement in the Philomathean Hall the previous year costing $175, and valuable and permanent improvements made the present year by the same society, costing $200, to which may be added improvements made the previous year by the Aonia Society costing $60, a total of $650 spent on the halls of the three societies.

An addition was made to the library of upwards of three hundred and fifty volumes of standard works, including a cyclopedia and a complete set of Littell's Living Age, at an outlay of $300, and a donation to the institution of a valuable collection of the plants of Iowa, by E. W. Holway, Decorah.

And, finally, the liquidation of an embarrassing debt of $4,700 against the institution was successfully accomplished.

Physical Exercise.

The students have been formed into an independent company of state militia, under the laws of the state of Iowa, and in suitable weather are regularly drilled in military tactics.

Oratory.

An annual prize of twenty dollars maintained by Rev. Elon Foster, D. D., is awarded to the student who shall write and pronounce an oration in the best manner. This prize was awarded the past year to Mr. George Pangburn, while a second prize of fifteen dollars, presented by Miss Michaels, was awarded to Mr. H. F. Kling.

Promptness and Punctuality.

We cannot too strongly emphasize the fact that the term begins, in every case, on the day advertised, and that the loss of a day at the beginning of the term is a serious inconvenience to the teacher and a positive injury to the student. The attention of parents, guardians, and students is especially called to this. No excuse will be accepted for absence at the beginning of the term, or during term time, unless such absence is unavoidable.

Government and Discipline.

Candidates for admission to the various departments of the University are received only on condition and agreement that they will comply with all the published rules and regulations. These are: to attend church service on the Sabbath; to attend chapel service each morning, and all recitations. Absence from church, chapel, or recitation must, in every case, be accounted for in writing. The chapel roll is called every chapel service, and the church roll on Tuesday morning. Students are not allowed to leave town or be absent from their rooms during study hours, without permission from the President or some one of the Professors, nor board or room at a house not approved by the Faculty. Students are promptly dismissed whenever it is evident, in the judgment of the Faculty, that they are pursuing a course of conduct seriously detrimental to themselves or to the institution.

Degrees Conferred.

The University confers the following degrees in course:

The degree of Bachelor of Arts on those students who complete the Classical course of study.

The degree of Bachelor of Philosophy on those who complete the Latin-Scientific course of study.

The degree of Bachelor of science on those students who complete the Scientific course of study.

The degree of Master of Arts on Bachelors of Arts and Bachelors of Philosophy, and the degree of Master of Science on Bachelors of Science, of three years' standing, provided that, since graduation, they have sustained a good moral character, and have pursued some literary or scientific calling.

Candidates for these degrees should apply to the President of the University two weeks before Commencement. The applications must be accompanied by a fee of five dollars, to pay for diplomas.

Students who complete the full course of the Commercial Department are awarded a diploma as Master of Accounts.

Students who complete the course of Piano or Vocal Training are awarded a diploma as Bachelor of Music.

Board.

Board is the chief item of expense in attending college. But parents should not forget that it costs something to live at home as well as abroad. The price of table board at the club, during the past year, has ranged from $1.75 to $2.20 per week, and table board in private families from $1.75 to $2.50 per week. Rooms furnished throughout, and within a convenient distance, can be rented for fifty cents per week, while unfurnished rooms, for self-boarding, or for those who prefer to bring their own furniture, can be had for about half the above price. Board in private families is from $2.75 to $3.00 per week. Students will find it to their advantage to consult with members of the Faculty before engaging rooms or board. The Boarding Hall is controlled by the institution, and a member of the Faculty has charge of the club.

The Lady Professorship Association.

This Association was incorporated under the laws of Iowa in 1874, with full power to hold and convey property of every kind, to invest or loan money, and to enforce collection of moneys loaned. The Treasurer is required to give bonds to the amount of five thousand dollars for the faithful performance of her duty as custodian of the funds, thereby securing the Association against the possibility of loss. All funds are invested under direction of the Board of Managers, ample security being required in every case, and only the interest used for the purposes of the Association, while the principal is to remain untouched forever. Care is taken to guard every point, in order that the greatest possible security and permanence may be attained, and the object in view most speedily accomplished. The object of this Association is to raise and invest funds for the endowment of a chair in the University, to be filled by a lady chosen by the joint action of the Trustees and the members of this Association.

Board of Managers.

Students' Association.

A Re-union of the old Students of the Upper Iowa University in June, 1881, developed a wide-spread feeling of interest in the Institution, which, some time afterwards, assumed definite shape in the form of a Students' Association, the aims and objects of which may be seen in their Constitution and By-Laws, appended to this Catalogue.

UPPER IOWA UNIVERSITY.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, No Institution giving instruction in Collegiate courses of study can be maintained without an endowment, and

WHEREAS, It has been the experience and history of the older colleges of the country not supported by State appropriations that there is no way of securing continuously good instruction but by special endowments, the funds of which are made inalienable by law and are kept sacred for the special purpose for which they are created, and

WHEREAS, The Students of an Institution of Learning are its best friends and benefactors; now, therefore, for the purpose of raising a special endowment fund, we, the students of the Upper Iowa University, do adopt the following Constitution and By-Laws:

Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

This Association shall be called the Students' Association of the Upper Iowa University.

ARTICLE II.

The object of this Association shall be the raising and controlling of a fund to be called the Students' Endowment Fund of the Upper Iowa University.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION I. The officers of this Association shall be a President, First Vice President, Second Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer.

SEC. II. It shall be the duty of the President to preside at all regular meetings of the Association, and, in conjunction with the Secretary, to call extra meetings of the Association, whenever, in their judgment, it shall be deemed necessary.

SEC. III. It shall be the duty of the First Vice President, and of the Second, in the absence of the First, to perform all the functions of the President, in the absence of that officer.

SEC. IV. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep correct record of all proceedings of the Association, to act in conjunction with the President in calling extra meetings, and to notify members of all meetings of the Association.

SEC. V. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive all funds belonging to the Association, to invest the same by order of the Board of Directors and to act in conjunction with the President of the Board of Directors in receiving and conveying any real estate or personal property belonging to the Association; and he shall give bonds subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, in a sum equal, at least, to double the amount and value of any property or funds that may be in his hands, at any one time, during the year.

SEC. VI. The Board of Directors shall be constituted and elected, and shall have such powers and duties as the By-Laws of the Association may provide.

SEC. VII. The officers shall be elected by ballot at each regular annual meeting, and shall continue in office until their successors are elected and qualified.

ARTICLE IV.

The regular meetings of the Association shall be held annually at Fayette, at the time of Commencement.

ARTICLE V.

All who have attended school at the Upper Iowa University shall be members of this Association, providing always, that a compliance with the By-Laws be made a condition of membership.

ARTICLE VI.

This Constitution may be amended by three-fourths of the members present at any regular meeting.

By-Laws.

ARTICLE 1.

SECTION I. Each member shall pay an initiation fee of not less than ten dollars.

SEC. II. Any member who may be unable to pay this fee on joining the Association, may give his obligation for the amount, due three years or less, after date, with interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, payable annually. Or he may give his obligation to be paid in five equal annual installments, with interest at eight per cent. on the deferred payments, to be paid annually.

SEC. III. If any member shall fail to pay principal and interest when due, he shall forfeit his membership until such principal and interest are paid.

SEC. IV. For every one hundred dollars in addition to the membership fee that any member shall pay into the treasury, or give his obligation, according to Section II., and under restrictions of Section III. of these By-Laws he shall be entitled to one additional vote.

SEC. V. All moneys so received, and all donations and bequests shall go to the establishment of a fund to be controlled and applied in the manner herein provided.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION I. The fund created by membership fees and otherwise shall be called the "Students' Endowment Fund of the Upper Iowa University," to which the accretions from incoming members and all donations and bequests shall be applied as principal, and all, or such part of the interest derived therefrom as may hereafter be ordered.

SEC. II. The principal of this fund shall always remain inviolable and under the control of the Association, and the proceeds thereof shall be added to the principal until such time as the fund amounts to Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000), except such amount as may be necessary for the creation of said fund.

SEC. III. After the fund amounts to five thousand dollars, the interest derived therefrom shall be applied to the salary of a Professor in the Upper Iowa University, to be nominated by the Association, and elected by the Board of Trustees of the University.

SEC. IV. At the annual meetings of the Association five members shall be elected, who, with the President of the University, shall constitute a Committee on Professorship, whose duty it shall be to consider and report a suitable person to fill the chair in the University, supported, in whole, or in part, by the Association, which report shall be subject to the action of the Association; and in the interims of the annual meetings, said Committee shall have full power to nominate in case of a vacancy.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION I. All the business of the Association excepting such as shall be disposed of at its regular meetings, or shall be especially provided for in the Constitution and By-Laws shall be managed and disposed of by six members, to whom shall be added the Treasurer of the Association, who shall also be Treasurer of the Board of Directors. Two of said Board shall be elected each year for the period of three years; and the six first elected shall determine by lot their respective terms, so that two vacancies shall occur by expiration each year thereafter.

SEC. II. It shall be the special duty of said board to assume control of all funds belonging to the Association, and to see that they are invested securely and in such a manner as to produce the largest possible income to the Association. And no moneys belonging to the Association shall be loaned, unless secured by first mortgage, lien or incumbrance on real estate, which real estate shall be worth at least double the amount loaned.

SEC. III. The Board of Directors at their first meeting shall elect from their own number a President and Secretary, who shall discharge the duties usually pertaining to these offices. And the President shall make, at each annual meeting, a full report of all transactions of the Directors, and, in conjunction with the Treasurer, he shall lay before the Association the condition of the Endowment Fund, and receive, and by order of the Board of Directors, convey any real estate or personal property that may accrue to the Association, and the Secretary of this Board shall attend to all correspondence incident to the collection or disbursements of money.

SEC. IV. In case of vacancy occurring in this Board otherwise than as heretofore provided, it shall be filled by a vote of the remaining members, subject to the confirmation of the Association at its first annual meeting thereafter.

ARTICLE IV.

Members of the Association who cannot be present at any annual meeting may be represented by proxy in the election of the Board of Directors and Standing Committee on Professorship, providing the Secretary of the Association be notified by letter from said absent member of the appointment of such proxy, and such proxy shall be a member of the Association.

ARTICLE V.

Twenty-five members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at the regular meetings, and fifteen at extra meetings.

ARTICLE VI.

These By-Laws may be amended by the concurrence of three-fourths of the members present at any regular meeting, except the first clause of Section II., Article II., which reads, "The principal of this fund shall always remain inviolable."
